Thinking Out Loud

(By H. M. L.)

Seventeen years ago today the bells of San Francisco rang out; the sirens along the waterfront and upon the bay sounded a great diapason; men and women wept on the streets and bought the "Extras" that every five or ten minutes were rushed from the roaring presses of the great dailies. And as it was in San Francisco, so it was throughout the land. Mothers and father, whose sons were still alive and uninjured, thanked God. Commemoration of the day can never again arouse such a passion of thankfulness. As memory dims the celebration becomes less. It was thus with Memorial Day. Time heals all wounds and draws a merciful veil over past agonies.

Still today we can be thankful that the lesson of the war is not forgotten. We know now the "Fourteen Points" were pointed dragon's teeth. We know now that Democracy is never so much endangered as when we fight for its maintenance. We know now that war breeds despots and that the boom of guns immediately silences the voice of the people. We know now that iron fisted tyranny grows out of the ashes of wars. If we have not learned this lesson from the World war, we are as incapable of self government as the black Ethiopians.

President Wilson was elected his second term because of his promise to keep us out of the war, and despite that the American people forced him into the war. It was the slogan: "Make the world safe for democracy" that sent four million Americans into training camps and to France. Nearly two million men had landed there when the war ended, and it was this new blood stream, injected into the old European arteries, which saved the national existence of France and Italy and probably of England. Today we are able to measure just how much American altruism and Wilsonian idealism cost us. They cost us 175,000 lives of our young men, and a great army of the shattered and the wounded, they cost us billions in pensions and compensations, they cost us more billions in private funds and credits repudiated by foreign debtors, and in a large measure they cost us the hatred of debtor nations.

Today Europe stands tipsily upon the brink of another war and we have another President who is promising us neutrality and no participation in European entanglements. But he has this advantage: the people today, all those who were past five years of age when the World war came, can remember the last war. The Depression, in case they have forgotten, refreshes their memory. The youth of today, with no memory of war, at least, has experienced the Depression which grew out of the war. Thus, we are a nation of burned fingers. It will require some motive greater than the last war, or some imminent danger, such as an invasion of our own country, to drive us to put our hands into the fire again. The greatest service the veterans of the World war can do their country today is to make 125,000,000 people see war through their eyes, in other words, make this a nation of realists.

Frank Simmons, who is perhaps as good at prognostication, as the weather bureau, gives Europe a maximum of two more years of comparative peace before another war cataclysm. In the meantime, Germany will rearm far beyond the old Imperial regime. England will have greatly added to its navy and air forces, France will augment its army to the last man capable of bearing arms, and Italy will emerge from Ethiopia with greatly increased forces and war experience, whether winner or loser. And some trivial incident will plunge western Europe into the red bath again. We would like to see Prophet Simmons and others of his kind proved false. But the prospect is gloomy. The forces that lift civilization up, are so easily turned to casting it down to destruction.

On this Armistice Day let us turn our thoughts upon that day, seventeen years ago, when bugles sounded the peace, and soldiers climbed out of their trenches, embraced their foes, sang, and shouted hellelujahs. And let us mightily resolve that those of our neighbors who resort to war, do so at their risk, and not at ours.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ryan of Reno, Nevada, spent Sunday in Nevada City visiting with Mrs. Ryan's mother, Mrs. Emma Foley, and other family members.

MISS MYRTLE STACY WEDS LEROY HOSKIN

Leroy Hoskin and Miss Myrtle Stacey of Nevada City were united in marriage in Reno, Nevada, Sunday morning at 10 o'clock with several close friends and relatives present for the ceremony. Miss Dorothy Lewis, and John Seaman acted as bridesmaid and best man.

The wedding party, consisting of Mr. Leroy Hoskin, Miss Stacey, Miss Lewis, Messrs. Norman Kistle, Jas. Kistle, and John Seaman, left Nevada City Saturday and motored to Reno and Carson City, Nevada, returning to Reno for the night.

They were met in Reno Sunday morning by Mrs. Alice Seaman, and Malsolm Graham, of Nevada City, who were present for the wedding. Upon the party's return to Nevada City Sunday a wedding supper was served at the home of the groom's mother, Mrs. Agnes Hoskin. Forty-five were present to enjoy the delicious feast. After the dinner a joy ride to Grass Valley and back was given the young couple, auto horns tooting all the way over and back.

The bride is an attractive young woman who has been in the employ of the Club Pool Hall Cafe on Broad street for some time and has made many friends here in the short stay in this city.

The groom was born and reared in Nevada City and is an industrious and respected young man. Owing to Mr. J. P. Muscardini, owner of the Club Pool Hall, having an injured ankle, the young people did not go away on a wedding trip, the groom returning to work this morning.

ARMISTICE BALL AT NO. SAN JUAN

(By KATHERINE BRAITHWAITE)

The French Corral Townsend club sponsored a dance Saturday evening in Twamley Hall at North San Juan that will be long remembered by everyone who attended. Promptly at nine o'clock Cartoscelli's orchestra began playing familiar war tunes and the large crowd was enthusiastic in its appreciaton.

The spacious dance floor of Twamley Hall has recently undergone a thorough sanding and polishing and is now considered one of the finest dance floors in Nevada County. Three large heating stoves and ample dressing rooms greatly add to the comfort of those who like fo motor to North San Juan for a full evening of a real good time.

Three door prizes were given away by the Townsend Club. The first was won by Mr. Dave Reider of Sweetland. The second by Mrs. George Uhrigh of Willow Springs and the third winner donated his prize toward the next dance to be given by this organization. Mr. Frank Miller, master of ceremonies, gave honorary mention to the war veterans present and the orchestra accompanied him with appropriate music.

A prize waltz was featured during the evening with Mrs. W. E. Moulton, Mrs. Anna Bradbury, and Mrs. Kern Fogerty as judges. One by one the competing couples were eliminated until only two couples remained on the floor. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Farnsworth of Freeman's Crossing, Mrs. Robert Braithwaite and Mr. Frank Homer of North San Juan. The judges were unable to agree as to the winner and the decision was left to the applause of the crowd. They, too, were impartial and the contest was favored as a tie and the prize was divided.

Mr. George Uhrig, with his fine Irish tenor sang many of the favorite war songs and Mr. Alfred Jerrad added zest to the music with his talented ability at the piano. At midnight slumgullion was served in the Twamley cafe and then dancing continued until a very late hour. Mr. W. N. Baker, president of the Townsend Club has promised there will be more of these dances in the near future.

About 128 happy youngsters received Mickey Mouse and other toy balloons Wednesday noon from a demonstrator for the Nevada City Drug Store. The children's joyous shouts, as they lined the side walk in front of the bank and drug store, could be heard a block.

Bob Moscatelli, who owns and operates mining property in the Washington district, north of Washington, was a Nevada City visitor Wednesday.

ARMISTICE DAY IS CELEBRATED BY TWIN CITIES

Armistice Day was celebrated with a colorful parade and splendid service by the American Legion, and Canadian Legion, of Grass Valley, and Banner Post., V. F. W., of Nevada City, in Grass Valley this morning. The streets and big Legion hall were well filled with an attentive crowd.

The following is the program of the day, the parade starting as follows:

Massed colors of American Legion, Ladies Auxiliary, V. F. W. and Ladies Auxiliary, and Canadian Legion. Nevada City high school band, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Canadian Legion, American Legion, Mt. St. Mary's School, Grass Valley high school. Grass Valley high school band, Grass Valley grammar school, CCC Boys.

At the close of the parade, the program at Memorial Hall began.

Captain Gilbert of the Salvation Army opened the service.

Commander Ed Bowden of the American Legion was in charge of the ceremonies.

Mrs. E. R. Burtner read the poem "In Flanders Fields" and the stage curtains slowly opened on a tableau. Mr. Burtner, in army uniform and a marine, presented arms at the head and foot of a tiny graveyard of tombstones with Flanders Field poppies growing in it. The whole audience stood at attention as the curtains were drawn.

The Grass Valley high school band rendered a patriotic selection.

Judge Raglan Tuttle then gave an interesting talks, stressing the significance of Armtistice Day and the reasons why we should keep out of foreign entanglements.

Rev. A. L. Pratt gave the invocation, closing one of the most interesting Armistice Day celebrations held in that city.

WPA PROJECTS LISTED IN STATE TO $62,396,760

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11.—Funds available for the immediate prosecution of a large portion of California's $222,000,000 Federal works program soared to $62,396,670, with the release today by Frank Y. McLaughlin, state WPA administrator, of $49,763,942 to district directors for the execution of 187 new WPA projects. Previous releases had totaled only $12,635,728.

Officials at State WPA headquarters were working at top speed in an effort to release several hundred additional projects to the district directors at the ealriest possible date.

Simultaneously with the announcement of the release of the latest list of work units McLaughlin revealed that WPA projects now in operation in virtually every county of the state are absorbing men from the work rolls at a steadily increasing rate.

Although definite figures were lacking, it was estimated that approximately 40,000 persons, many of them family heads, have already left the SERA rolls for employment on WPA projects. This figure, officials stated, will be materially increased within the week.

DRUNK DRIVERS DEFINED BY LAW

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 11.—When is a person intoxicated?

The correct definition won't be found in the dictionary insofar as automobile driving is concerned. The reference for the motorist is in the vehicle code adopted by the last legislature, which states:

"If intoxicating liquor has so far effected the nervous system, brain or muscles of the driver of an automobile as to impair, to an appreciable degree, his ability to operate his car in the manner that an ordinary prudent and cautious man in the possession of his faculties, using reasonable care, would operate or drive a similar vehicle under like conditions, then such driver is under the influence of intoxicating liquor."

IF LICENSE MISSING, TELL IT TO JUDGE

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 11.—Motorists will have to explain it to a magistrate "right now" if they are stopped on the highway by an officer and cannot produce a driver's license.

Under the new vehicle code, all law enforcement agents are required to immediately take persons before the nearest magistrate in the county in which the offense occurs for the following infractions:

1. When a person fails to exhibit his operator's or chauffeur's license.
2. When a person arrested refuses to give his written promise to appear in court.
3. When a person arrested demands an immediate appearance before a magistrate.
4. When a person is charged with hit-and-run driving wherein fatalities or injuries are incurred.
5. When a person is charged with driving while intoxicated.

California highway patrol officers have been given instructions by Chief E. Raymond Cato to check for driver's licenses at every opportunity on state roads.

HI GRIDDERS TO FEAST ON TURKEY

(By BEN SWEENEY)

Purple and gold football jerseys are being carefully folded and cleated shoes stored safely away as the Nevada City Yellowjackets bid adieu to the gridiron for another season. With the first basketball practice of the 1935-36 season scheduled for tomorrow afternoon, only a short perior remains for a few pigskin echoes to be heard.

"Charley" Wyant, proprietor of the Shamrock Cafe, will bring back one very large echo in the form of a turkey dinner to be presented to the boys next Friday evening for their successful season. Early in the season, Mr. Wyant promised the boys "a big feed" if they succeeded in winning first or second place in their division in league competition. Whether or not that had anything to do with results is not known; however, it is well known that the local boys waded through their league schedule undefeated.

Another echo to be heard very soon will be the presentation of the Howard Penrose silver trophy to the outstanding player in sportsmanship, willingness, and ability during this season. This silver cup will be presented either at the Friday night banquetor at an assembly at the high school.

Athletic letters, earned by the players who qualified by playing a designated number of quarters, will be given to the players at a high school assembly during the next few weeks.

GOLD FLAT QUILTING CLUB

Mrs. Jay Roberts of Gold Flat entertained the Quilting Club at a most enjoyable affair Wednesday afternoon. The home was artistically decorated in brilliant chrysanthemums and autumn leaves. Dainty refreshments were enjoyed at the close of the afternoon. Those present were, Mesdames M. Roberts, James Ryan, M. Penrose and Laughlin.

And the penalty is severe, according to E. Raymond Cato, chief of California Highway Patrol, who reminds autoists who dare to drink and drive that they are committing a misdemeanor and face imprisonment in a county jail of from 30 days to six months and a fine of from $50 to $500, or both, for the first offense, and from 90 days to one year in jail or from $200 to $1,000 fine, or both, for a second offense.

If a person driving under influence of intoxiating liquors "does any act forbidden by law or neglects any duty imposed by law" and such act results in bodily injury that person can be punished for a felony with a sentence of from one to five years in state prison, or from 90 days to one year in county jail or by fine of $200 to $5000 or by both fine and imprisonment.

C OF C MEETS TOMORROW

The regular meeting of the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce will be held tomorrow evening. President Cassidy urges all members to attend.

New WPA Project For Nevada City Approved

A recapitulation received this morning by the Nevada City Nugget from Frank Y. McLapghlin, shows a total of $76,095 allotted to Nevada City for WPA projects. However, of this sum, $6,089 has apparently been placed in the wrong column for it includes work on the Idaho-Maryland road and other road work, which does not belong properly in the Nevada City projects. On the other hand street projects listed are but part of the amount already allotted to this work. At any rate this total amount to be spent in this city approximates $70,000.

The new summary from the state headquarters of the WPA listing Nevada City projects to date, follows:

Nevada County. Idaho-Maryland road, grade, surface and correct drainage, Eureka road, correct the drainage. Forest Springs and Allison road, reconstruct and correct drainage four miles. $6,089.

Nevada City—Town. Wide excavate and install 1941 feet steel pipe. Excavate and recover 1895 feet C. I. pipe, install in new location part of municipal water system. Pop. less than 15,000. $6.839.

Nevada City—Work on the city park; complete grading of roads; grade playing field; construct two small dams; construct lily pond and line with wet rubble; rock surface roads grade and pave tennis court with concrete; build wet rubble walls and pave channel of Little Deer Creek. $4.548.

Nevada City—Construction of a two story concrete addition to the Women's ward building of the Nevada county hospital. Public property. $15,935.

Nevada City—To lay approximately 45,430 feet of 4 inch sidewalk, various widths.

Nevada City—Alterations and repairs to court house. This work was started under SERA project No. 30-B3-76. $13,393.

Nevada City—Streets, level and cover with 2 inch crushed rocks, coat with asphaltic road oil. Spread Birdseye surfacing and roll 1.125 miles. $6.693.

MINING CO. PROPERTIES SOLD TO ALPHA STORES

The properties of the You Bet Mining company have been sold to Alpha Store Ttd., following judgment rendered by Judge Raglan Tuttle for the latter in the sum of $15,652. The auction was conducted Thursday at the court house. The sale was made to satisfy a debt for mining supplies, merchandise and water.

TAX PAYERS ARE WINNERS; WAGE EARNERS LOSERS

NEVADA CITY, Nov. 11.—The largest single shipment of sea-borne cargo ever to cross the docks of the Port of Sacramento, according to a statement made today by Congressman Harry Englebright, actually took bread and butter out of the mouths of the taxpayers who were paying for the shipment.

The freight charges on the shipment, consisting of 700 tons of cast iron pipe enroute from Birmingham, Alabama, to the City of Roseville, California, where it will be used for a new water system, will be paid by taxpayers of that city, a substantial majority of whom depend directly or indirectly upon railroads for a livelihood.

"This situation is a somewhat ironical one," Congressman Englebright pointed out. "If the shipment had moved by railroad from Birmingham to Roseville, many railroad employes would have benefited through increased earnings as a result of the movement.

"Unfortunately the 'long and short haul' clause of the Interstate Commerce Act made it impossible for the railroads to compete with intercostal steamship lines for the movement of this cargo.

"On the surface it would look as though taxpayers of Roseville benefited by a rate reduction amounting to $1,120 according to published statements, but actually, considered as an example of what is happening hundreds of times daily, the citizens of Roseville and other railroad communities were out money.

"Railroad employes, members of Standard Railroad Labor Organizations throughout the country, are earnestly striving to make it possible for railroads again to compete for this type of transcontinental business, once a substantial factor in the larger railroad payrolls previously enjoyed by California communities.

"This is an outstanding example of the reasons why all citizens of the western states should support passage of the Pettingill Bill for amendment of the Fourth Section of the Interstate Commerce Act. The bill will come before Congress early in the second half of the 74th session next January.

HI QUILL STAFF IS ANNOUNCED

(By BEN SWEENEY)

The preparation of the 1936 Quill annual of the Nevada City high school is definitely under way. With a large portion of the group pictures taken last week and the selection of the Quill staff within the last few days, activity has begun, and a senior class is preparing for a very busy time between now and the date of its publication sometime in May.

The annual this year will be of the same type as the one prepared by last year's senior class. That is, it will be mimeographed by the students of the high school and will contain pictures mounted in the new style introduced in the 1935 edition. As in former years, Mrs. Eva Flewellen of the high school English department will act as literary advisor with Miss N. Baggley supervising the mimeographing work. Principal H. E. Kjorlie will have charge of the financial end of the publication as in previous years. The assistant editor of last year, Cecelia Woods will assume the editorship of the 1936 edition.

The entire staff is as follows: Editor-in-chief, Cecelia Woods; assistant editor, Robert Proctor; business manager, Gertrude Schreiber; assistant business manager, John Harding; circulation manager, Fabian Joyal; assistant circulation manager, Arthur Elliott; literary editor, Betsy Bennett; humor editor, Oscar Odegaard; art editor, Margaret Wyant; assistant are editor, Mary Lou Draper and Bernice McQuay; historian, Marion Mohr; social editor, Ruth Curnow; snapshot editor, Fern McClure; girls' sports, Dorothy Thomas; boys' sports, Dick Stevens; typists, Jim Stephens, Fern McClure, Amy Lou McCraney, Pauline Rozynski, Adele Joerschke, and Bob Schiffner.

With the exception of several of the assistant editors and managers, the staff is chosen from members of the senior class. The assistants who act as such on this edition will accept the chief positions on the staff of the 1937 Quill. Such a system enables the assistants to gain a great deal of experience before they undertake the duties of the main positions themselves.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wilhoite are spending the week end and Armistice Day in San Francisco. Mr. Wilhoite is manager of the Safeway store in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Pierson Tuttle and daughter are week end visitors at the home of Judge and Mrs. Raglan Tuttle.

Mr. L. Bankus employed at the Spanish mine above Washington, received three badly mashed fingers when a large rock fell on his hand while at work this morning. He was brought to Nevada City and is in the sanitarium. Dr. B. W. Hummelt, is attending him. Mr. Bankus is the father of Mrs. John Mlinarich of this city.

Going Up

Food prices are going up.

Today the average American housewife pays $1.50 more each week for food than she did a year ago. She pays about $5 a week more than she did three years ago.

To feed an aveage family it costs 127.6 per cent of what it did in 1913, when the national income was approximately the same as it is now. Meat prices are more than 20 per cent above a year ago. Bread also is higher in many localities.

In California a couple of weeks ago a frost damaged crops, and vegetable prices went up forthwith.

Now all this is not a very pleasant prospect for the man whose wages or salary has not been boosted. And the man who has gotten a raise in the past year is the exception rather than the rule, statistics show.

On the other hand, the present rising prices resulting from short wheat crops and small hog supplies are pleasant for the farmer who has wheat and hogs to sell. And it is giving him money to buy things, which in turn is one of the principal factors behind the recovery of business and industry.

Now before we begin to complain about the higher food prices, we ought to ask ourselves a question. On the whole, are we better off in the present situation than we were when farms were producing huge surpluses and food prices were consequently at their bottom as in 1932?

The contrast of today with 1932 proves one thing that Democrats and Republicans alike will have to admit. We do need a farm program of some sort. For if we let natural economic laws operate without control over what we grow, wage earners will take a beating part of the time, and when they do not, the farmer will suffer.

CCC ENROLLMENT RULES ALTERED; IT'S EASIER NOW

The dead line for enrollment in CCC camps is Saturday, November 16. While the new rules now require that boys enrolling must come from families on relief, the bars are down so far as restrictions concerning former enrollment are concerned. Formerly boys who had been in camps for 18 months were debarred from re-enrollment. this rule no longer applies, providing boys come within the age limits, 17 to 28.

It has been pointed out, and should be reiterated, that CCC boys are given an exceptional training for several vocations during their enrollment terms. Many business and mechanical courses are offered the boys and much practical experience in course of their duties in the forestry service, which stands them in good stead after expiration of their enrollment. The CCC camps in this area are provided with an educational supervisor and the camp commanders themselves. A considerable number of the enrollees have proved so efficient that the Forest Service authorities have found work for them among their regular forces. The forest service builds bridges. telephone lines, highways and fire trails, involving the use of many varieties of machines, trucks, road working apparatus and the like. The boys profit enormously, especially when they have native aptitude, in handling machinery.

Enrollment in CCC camps is falling far short of county quotas, according to executives in the forest service. In Nevada County, for instance, the quota calls for 15 enrollees and only 5 have enrolled. In Placer the quota is 30 and 0 have enrolled. In Sacramento county the quota is 240 and only 50 have enrolled.

STUDENTS TO MAKE EXHIBIT OF WORKS

The second of a series of Nevada City high school work exhibits will be made this week in the window of a local drug store. This exhibit will be furnished by the art department of the local high school under the supervision of Miss Thelma Peterson. Work done by art students in the various phases of the department's divisions will be on display.

Such exhibits are made to enable the citizens to understand the practical side of the high school work. From week to week, other departments will display their workmanship in the show windows of local stores.

STATE COLLEGE BOYS VISIT LOCAL MINES

Dr. and Mrs. Hal D. Draper of Nevada City are entertaining Dr. W. F. Tucker, head of the geological department of Fresno State College, and ten boys of Dr. Tucker's class. The group left Fresno Saturday morning and visited Mariposa and Angels Camp. They arrived in Nevada City Sunday evening and today visited the Ragon mine west of Nevada City, where Superintendent O. E. McCraney took them underground. From there they went to the Empire mine in Grass Valley and went through the big mill, upon their return to this city they visited the new mill and surface works of the Spring Hill mine, located between the two cities. The boys have had an excellent chance to study rock formation, and gold mining, at first hand.

This afternoon they are enjoying a bean supper at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Draper on Park avenue. Dr. Draper, former professor of chemistry in Fresno State College, is a close friend of Dr. Tucker.

GOOD SERVICE COSTS NO MORE

A modern establishment—a trained, intelligent and courteous personnel — distinctive motor equipment and other evidences of progress and prosperity are NOT an indication that funeral service charges will be high. A successful concern can be built only by serving honestly and well, at prices that are fair and reasonable.

ALBACORE BACK ON COAST AGAIN

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11.—The return of the albacore, gamy, deep diving fighter of the ocean, to California waters, after several years absence, caused much speculation among sportsmen and scientists. Many theories were put forth as to the reason why this long-finned cousin of the tuna, formerly found in great numbers in coastal waters during season should have nearly disappeared.

Biologists of the Division of Fish and Game, Department of Natural Resources, who devote their attention to study of marine life believe that this year"s influx of albacore is due to the warmer offshore water surging close in to the coast. It is their firm belief that albacore and mackerel are off the California coast every fall, but it is only occasionally that they come in close enough to the shore to be caught by anglers or the small boat fishermen.

Albacore first appeared this year, insofar as anglers were concerned in the ocean off Newport. Passenger carrying boatsmen immediately hauled out the old outriggers, furbished up the feather lures and announced that albacore trolling was in order, for the first time in productive numbers since 1926. Hundreds of sportsmen went out and some fine catches were made. Live bait boats also made good catches.

About the middle of September albacore were located 40 miles south of Monterey and 15 to 30 miles offshore. The patrol boat "Albacore," of the Division of Fish and Game, with one of the laboratory staff aboard, made a trip straight offshore from Monterey Bay earlier in the month to take temperatures and to scout for schools of albacore. The fish had not yet gotten that far north, but during the remainder of September and into October albacare catches grew larger.

The schools then moved as far up the coast as the Farallone Islands, where they were seen in large numbers by the "Albacore" crew about 20 miles west of the Island. Catches of from 20 to 40 tons were brought into Monterey, where they were purchased for $150 a ton by packers.

During the run, biologists tagged many of this species. These tags do not injure the gills of the fish, but when these tagged fish are taken they furnish data as to the migration, growth and habits of the fish.

Nor. San Juan P. T. A. To Give Card Party

Next Friday evening, November 15, there will be a whist card party in the schoolhouse at North San Juan at eight o'clock sharp. There will be a charge of twenty five cents at the door, and there will be a door prize for the party holding the lucky door ticket.

Mrs. Sydney Strand, teacher of North San Juan has donated the first prize for the gentlemen, Mrs. Joe Young, president of the P. T. A., has donated the first prize for the ladies and Mrs. Mame Thompson, treasurer, donated two consolation prizes. The object of this card party is to obtain funds to purchase gasoline lights and other vital necessities for the schoolhouse.

Mrs. Percy Hepburn and Mrs. Celte Washburn are on the committee to provide coffee and other refreshments and Mr. Bud Harris will be on hand to keep the lights burning and the school house warm and comfortable.

The P. T. A. hopes to continue with these card parties throughout the winter months and if it is agreeable it will give them as often as the folks desire. Prizes and refreshments will gradually become bigger and better and the attendance increases.

The next regular meeting of the P. T. A. will be Friday evening of December 13. All of the parents, teachers and their interested friends along the ridge are urgently requested to attend this meeting as there will be matters of importance to be discussed of interest to all.

That Coveted Plum

"I'm going to live in Florida,"
Said little Willie Hearst,
"Of all the states that tax the rich,
This one of mine's the worst;
Of course when all is said and done,
I'd rather move to Washington,
And if I wage a noisy fight
And yell, 'Wolf! Wolf!' with all my might,
Perhaps they'll make me president—
They will if they're intelligent."

"Be still my heart, if sweet words come
Your fluttering valves to gladden,
I'll swiftly answer duty's call,"
Said suave Bernarr McFadden;
"What wisdom could I there impart
If I were president, my heart!
Strict rules of diet I'd enforce,
And in the White House gym,
I'd give lean statesmen tender curves
And make the fat ones trim;
And soon in light and filmy robes,
Upon the green lawns prancing
You'd see grave senators engaged
In fine aesthetic dancing."

"I ought to make the grade this time,"
Said Al Smith with a grin,
"I'll tell the world by rahdio
And it's a cinch I'll win.
But Hoover shook his rugged head,
"You're wrong friend Al!" said he,
My individualistic speech
Will turn the trick for me."

And so wherever we may go,
Around each curve and corner,
We find some wistful soul who thinks
He is the real Jack Horner.

LAW TIGHTENED FOR HIT RUNNERS

Change of a word or two in the law dealing with "hit-run" drivers has given the authorities a freer hand in the prosecution of such offenders and has made conviction and proper punishment more certain. These changes now in effect, following amendment of the law at the last session of the legislature. In cases involving death or personal injury the offense of "hit and run" has been changed from a felonly to a public offense. The main purpose is to permit the imposing of penalties to fit each individual case. In misdemeanor cases, those involving property damage only, the maximum sentence has been reduced from one year to six months.

These and other features of the amended law are emphasized in a statement by J. H. Threlkeld of Sau Francisco, chairman of the legislative committee of the California State Aptomobile Association. He said, in part:

"By defining a 'hit and run' charge as a public offense instead of a felony the legislature has in effect made it possible to deal with each case in accordance with the particular circumstances. Formerly the offense was a felony if it involved any personal injury, no matter how slight. The severity of a possible state's prison sentence despite extenuating circumstances has caused juries to acquit in many cases and offenders have been let off entirely without punishment. This has naturally tended to weaken enforcement of the law.

"This condition the amended law is designed to overcome. Meanwhile, the same maximum penalties as for the felony charge are retained, five years in state's prison or one year in county jail or a fine of $5,000, or both fine and imprisonment."

Threlkeld pointed out that the law requires a driver involved in an accident to stop and identify himself and give assistance to any injured. He is required to make a report within twenty four hours to the sheriff or highway patrol, or to the police department if in a city, of any accident involving death or personal injury. If he collides with an unattended vehicle he must try to locate the driver or owner and if unable to do so must leave written notice of his name and address in a conspicious place on the vehicle struck.
